

Well, If You Don t Like it Here Why Don t cha Leave: Memoirs of a Black Female Police Officer

By Janet A. Garnett

Trafford Publishing, Canada, 2009. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 246 x 175 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .As the subject matter of this writing covers the experiences and, therefore, conclusions of an American born Black woman from the south in the 1960 s through 2000 s, the reader(s) should be braced for some very glaring, and no doubt, very disturbing facts covered in these experiences. One definitely should not be confounded by the author s conclusions. Being from the Gateway to the South, better known as Kentucky, patriotic fervor as well as utter devotion to one s country is instilled in the marrow of our bones in that state. We who are African-American (as we are now known) have just as much loyalty to the land as any and all else. And just as it was then in the 60 s through the 80 s, so it still is in the 90 s through the present, 2006, we still find those in power in our beloved land retaining the same unwillingness to welcome us into fully sharing in the democratic process, and enjoying the benefit of financial inclusion, as well. The preface of this book...
