Reviews

*A fresh e book with an all new viewpoint. It is really simplistic but unexpected situations in the 50 % from the book. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

Excerpt from The Southern Planter, Vol. 64: Devoted to Practical and Progressive Agriculture, Horticulture, Trucking, Live Stock and the Fireside; October, 1903 This spring there was no favorable time for seed ing in February until the last day, when the seeder was brought out and 32 acres was sown. This field produced 800 bushels of wheat and one of the finest stands of clover I have ever had. Have just finished mowing over the stubble and cutting down the rag weed, and, will gather some clover seed on parts of the field. The saving of labor in preparing the land but once and saving one year s time will prevent people taking your advice about sowing clover alone. I have prae ticed sowing clover alone in small patches for years, and I have never failed to get a stand. This year some seeded that way was cut for hay August let, it being 18 inches high.
